FILLED COUNTRY WITH SPIES

Failed in Attempt to Spread Sedition -Gorman People in Grip of Same: Sinister Power That Has Drawn Blood From Us-

Washington, June 15 .- President Wilson in a Fing day address delivered here on Thursday declared that were forced into the world-wide war by the extraordinary insults and aggressions of the military musters of Germany.

The president's address in part is as

My Fellow Citizens: We meet to elebrate Flag Day because this flagwhich we honor and under which we serve is the emblem of our unity, our power, our thought and purpose as a nation. It has no other character than that which we give it from generation to generation. The choices are ours. It floats in majestic silence above the hosts that execute those choices whether in peace or in war. And yet, though silent, it speaks to us-speaks to us of the past, of the men and women who went before us and of the records they wrote upon it. We celebrate the day of its birth; and from its birth until now it has witnessed a great history, has floated on high the symbol of great events, of a great plan of life worked out by a great people. We are about to carry it into battle, to lift it where it will draw the fire of our enemies. We are about to bid thousands, hundreds of thousands, it may be millions of our men, the young, the strong, the capable men of the nation, to go forth and die beneath it on fields of blood far away-for what? For some unaccustomed thing? For something which it has never sought the fire before? American armies were never they sent now? For some new purfor which this great flag has nev er been carried before, or for some old. familiar, heroic purpose for which is has seen men, its own men, die on every battlefield-upon-which Americans have borne arms since the Revolution?

These are questions which must be answered. We are Americans. We in our turn serve America, and can serve with no private purpose. We must use her flag as she has always used it. We are accountable at the bar-of-history and must plead in utter frankness what purpose it is we seek to serve.

United States Forced Into War. It is plain enough how we were forced into the war. The extraordi nary insults and aggressions of the imperial German government left us no self-respecting choice but to take up arms in defense of our rights as a free people and of our honor as a sovereign government. The military masters of Germany denied us the right to be neu-They filled our unsuspecting conmunities with vicious spies and conspirators and sought to corrupt the pinion of our people in their own be half. When they found that they could not do that, their agents diligently spread sedition amongst us and sought to draw_our_own citizens from their allegiance, and some of those agents were men connected with the official embassy of the German government it-self here in our own capital. They dustries and arrest our commerce. They tried to incite Mexico to take up arms against us and to draw Japan inthat, not by indirection, but by direct from the foreign They impudently denied us the use of the high seas and repeated-ly executed their threat that they would send to their death any of our people who ventured to approach the coasts of Europe. And many of our own people were corrupted. Men began to look upon their own neighbors o wonder in their hot resentment and surprise whether there was any community in which hostile intrigue did not lurk. What great nation in such circumstances would not have taken up arms? Much as we had desired peace, it was denied is, and not of our own choice. This flag under which we serve would have en-dishonored had we withheld our hand.

No Emnity Toward German People.

But that is only part of the story. We know now as clearly as we knew before we were ourselves engaged that we are not enemies of the German people and that they are not our enemies. They did not originate or desire this hideous war or wish that we should be drawn into it; and we are vaguely conscious that we are fighting their cause, as they will some day see it, as well as They are themselves in the grip of the same sinister nower that now at last stretched its ugly talons out and drawn blood from us. The er and is trying out the great battle which shall determine whether it is to be brought under its mastery or fling

The war was begun by the military masters of Germany, who proved to be also the masters of Austria-Hungary. These men have never regarded n women, and children of like blood and frame as aselves, for whom governments existed and in whom governments had life. They have regarded them merely as serviceable organizations which they could by force or intrigue

They have regarded the smaller states, in particular, and the peoples who could be overwhelmed by force, as their natural tools and instruments of omination. Their purpose has long been avowed.

The demands made by Austria upon Serbia were a mere single step in a olan which compassed Europe Asia, from Berlin to Bagdad. They hoped those demands might not arouse Europe, but they meant to press them they did or not, thought themselves ready for the final Vast Empire Planned. Their plan was to throw a broad helt. of German military power and political control across the very center of Eu-rope and beyond the Mediterranean into the heart of Asia; and Austria-Hungary was to be as much their tool and pawn as Serbia or Bulgaria or Turkey or the ponderous states of the East. The dream had its heart at Berlin. It could have had a heart nowhere else It rejected the idea of solidarity of race entirely. The choice of peoples played no part in it at all. They ardently desired to direct their own would be satisfied only by undis puted independence. They could be kept quiet only by the presence or the constant threat of armed men. German military statesmen had reck-oned with all that and were ready to deal with it in their own way.

And they have actually carried the greater part of that amazing plan into execution! Look how things stand. Austria is at their mercy. It has acted, not upon its own initiative or upon the choice of its own people, but at Berlin's dictation ever since the war be gun. Its-people now desire peace, but cannot have it until leave is granted from Berlin. The so-called central nowers are in fact but a single power Serbin is at its mercy, should its hands be but for a moment freed. From Hamburg to the Persian gulf the net is sprend. -Why Berlin Seeks Peace.

Is it not easy to understand the eagness for peace that has been manifested from Berlin ever since the snare was set and sprung? Peace, peace, peace, peace has been the talk of her foreign office for now a year and more; no on the initiative of the nations over which she now deems herself to hold the advantage. Through all sorts of channels it has come to me, and in all sorts_of_guises, but never with the That government still holds a valuable part of France, though with slowly relaxing grasp, and practically the whole of Belgium. United States in War for Freedom.

The great fact that stands out above all the rest is that this is a People war, a war for freedom and justice and self-government amongst all the na tions of the world, a war to make the world safe for the peoples who live in it and have made it their own, the German people themselves included; and that with us rests the choice to break through all these hypocrisies and natent cheats and masks of brute force and help set the world free, or else stand aside and let it be dominated a long age through by sheer weight of arms and the arbitrary choices of selfconstituted masters, by the nation which can maintain the biggest armies and the most irresistible armaments. a power to which the world has afforded no narallel and in the face of which political freedom must wither

The abdication of the king was brought about by Senator Jonnart of France, who went to Greece empowered by the allies to settle finally the position of that country in the war. He informed Premier Zaimis that troops were at his disposal to carry out his decisions, but appealed to the premier to use his influence toward a perceful arrangement. After-consulting the crown council, the king decided to quit, and his abdication was announced on Tuesday morning. Both Constantine and the former crown prince have left Greece already.

Venizelos, the former premier and consistent opponent of Constantine's war policy, has back of him 100,000 men, and though the army in general was loyal to the ex-king, it is predicted -the-entire-fighting force of the nation will now take up arms against the Teutonic-powers and Turkey. This might bring about a decided change in the Balkan situation. With the Greeks acting with the allies from the south and the reorganized Roumanian army and nossibly the Ri from the north, the line of communications between Germany and Turkey might well be cut and the Turks forced to sue for peace.

Alexander, the new king of Greece who is twenty-four years old, took the oath on Wednesday. It is reasonable to suppose he will act in accord with the nilles, for he has kept free from all pro-German activities and seems to be acceptable to M. Jonnart. In fact, he cannot do much otherwise, for the entente forces promptly seized control of all of Greece, Professedly, their aim is the restoration of the constitutional government of that country. Renewed Hope for Russia. Hope and despair concerning Russia alternately take possession of the allies. Just now it is the turn of hone there is a real prospect that the new republic not only can be prevented from making separate peace with the Teutons, but may even be restored as potent military factor. Minister of War Kerensky is succeeding to some extent in re-establishing discipline in the army, and an incident on the Roumanian front, when three mutinous regiments were forced to uncondition al surrender by a large number of loyal falled and is trying to preserve its po-troops showed that most of the soldiers litted power at home and, indeed, its are disposed to back up the provisional government. The All-Russian council of peasants, furthermore, passed by a vote of 1,000 to 4 a resolution to cut off food supplies from Kronstadt if the own did not immediately join its revsubmission of Kronstadt.

President Wilson's note to Russia defining America's war aims, was received with much satisfaction everywhere except by the radical Russian socialists and in Germany, and was promptly followed by one from Great Britain which virtually stated that Mr. Wilson had spoken for his entente al lies. Of course the interpretation of the phrase "peace without annexa-tions" is still a stumbling block, for Great Britain, France and Italy take the position that the restoration of "stolen" lands, such as Alsace-Lorraine, Italia Irredenta and other regions, must not be considered as annexations. The Root commission, which had a triumphant trip across Siberia, is counted on to do a great deal toward bringing Russia to the scratch again. and at this writing it really looks asthough she will not yield to the blandishments of the kaiser and his social ist and pacifist emissaries. The great change in Greece also is looked upon as likely to influence Russia because of the effect it is sure to have on the Balkan situation. The very weakness of the Russian provisional government has caused the German conservatists to abandon hope of persunding Russin to a separate peace, for as Herr Heydebrand, their leader, says, such a course would be futile unless the government were strong enough to combat the allies Russia would be forsaking.

Constantin Brun, the Danish minis-

The charges have been published in some newspapers in London and in Paris, and later in the United States. These absolutely false accusations against Denmark were flatly contradicted in the house of commons by the British blockude minister, Lord Cecil, who in summing up his statements said: "It has been suggested that Denmark has been guilty of great delinquencies as regards ourselves. ### SWEDEN.

A Swedish shipper, whose opera-tions are extensive, said that for days the Swedish government allowed no ships to clear from Gothenburg for England of America. The ship insurance institutions were forbidden to issue any policies. The purpose of this measure was twofold. The first object was to obtain from England a more liberal export of supplies to Sweden, and the second was to influence America to permit the loading of the Swedish ships now lying empty in the American harbors. Such reprisals all along have been Sweden's most efficacious measures for the protection of its interests. The government also has made the issue of permits for the transfer through Sweden of English goods destined to Russia, the basis for delivery of English and American goods to Sweden. When that bargain seemed to be hanging fire, Sweden simply said: "Very well, this is our country and we will do what we please with it and without reciprocal ar consignments." Consequently, there were periods when the docks and the freight depots on the eastern border of Sweden were piled high with goods land which would win their release. On one occasion, when a coffee famine was threatened, the government held up-100.000 bags of coffee which was consigned by foreign shippers to Russta and made the permission for the releasing of the coffee conditional upon being allowed to buy for Sweden gain was made. On another occasion the government made permission to from Finland and selling to Sweden st difficulties has faithfully and at er than the consciousness of having say: "Sweden neither wishes nor expects to get into the war, but we will let the powers who think they can restrict imports to us to a point where it is endangering the nourishment of our people consider what would hap pen if Sweden put 700,000 men on the German front in Russia, thus permitting the Germans to make bigger con entrations in France."

Hjalmar Branting, the leader of the Swedish Social Democrats, is hailed by the French press as the man wh has more than any other contributed to the defeat up to the present time of all the German plans for a separate peace with Russia. Humanite says in an editorial "that the clear-sighted lender of the Swedish is a friend of the allies because of their just cause, has saved the Rusagainst the common foe for liberty and peace," Le Gaullos, the influential organ of the French conservatists, says "that the Russian working men's deleenught in the trap of a separate peace with Germany when Branting inter vened and warded off the impending danger."

The farmer or live stock man in any sort of touch at all with agricultural and market conditions doesn't have to look far for reasons why animals should be kept. In the first place the necessity for increasing our ment supply is urgent, and coupled with this is the additional fact that prospects for a continuation of high prices were never better. And we should bear in mind further that our live stock population to already far too small to insure the maintenance of soil fercrops in the years to come. The animal utilizes only small part of the fertilizing ingredients in the feed, and those which aren't used are returned to the farmer in the form of manure. It is safe to say that where manure is carefully handled, full 80 per cent of the fer tility value of a feed finds its way back to the soil. Figuring on this basis, an acre of oats if fed to mack on the farm, returns to the soil $5.47 worth of fertility. On the other hand if the onts are sold, $5.47 worth of fertility is removed from each acre. With corn—the lass—through—sale would be $7.75-an-acre, and in the case of a ton of clover hay the loss through sale would be $7.48 worth of fertility. MUST KILL WEEDS EARLY Use Up to 400 to 500 Pounds of Water for Each Pound of Dry Matter.

East Lansing, Mic ... The farmer who is looking out for No. 1 this season, or in any season, for that matter, will see to it that weeds in corn and beans are killed before they get a start. Early cultivation, and continuous practice of it throughout the grow ing senson is the remedy, say farm-crops men of the Michigan Agricultural college.

"Weeds," it is said, "are the greatest crop enemies, and it is a mistake to allow them to get up four or five inches before cultivating. The time to hit them hardest is just when they start.

"Soon after planting, with both corn and beans, the field should be gone over with a spike-tooth harrow, teeth slanting slightly back. The weeder is an excellent tool for early cultivation.

tion should be close to the plants and fairly deep, though if the seedbed has been preperly prepared, deep cultivation is not necessary. "The next cultivation usually comes within a week or ten days. This cultivation should not be quite so close to the plants, or as deep. Later cultivations, with either corn or beans, should be shallow-merely deep enough to dislodge the developing weeds and keep the ground in loose condition. After about 35-days' growth, the roots of corn or bean plants completely interlace between the rows aus come to tility and the production of bountiful within about two inches of the surface. These surface roots are the chief feed-ing roots of the plant, and deep cultivation will cause a considerable loss in yield by pruning them. Level and hallow cultivation is the best, and the ise of small shovels, or small cultivators equipped with blades or sweeps is advised. Deep cultivation is par-ticularly the practice of "laying by". Cultivating deeply at the last cultivation and throwing the earth from the middle of the rows should be avoided."

WIRE WORMS ARE SOD PESTS-

recautions Must Be Taken to Prevent Its Attacking Corn and Other Crops.

By DON B. WHELAN,

Extension Entomologist, M. A. C. East Lansing, Mich.—The wire worm, as always, will bear watching this season in Michigau. Wire worms are yellowish brown larvae, posses-sing hard polished skins and bodies slender and evlindrical in shape, meas uring from three-quarters of an inch to an inch in length. The most injurious form in Michigan prefers low, mucky, or poorly-drained soils, where it feeds upon the roots of grasses, grains and the like. Two or three years is required for this pest to reach maturity, which accounts, many times, for the damage done by it a year or two after grass sod has been turned nder. The adult is a brownish beetle, which from its habit of snapping its hody up in the air, is known as a "ellek beetle."

Susceptible crops, like potatoes, corn the prices prevailing three years ago. or root crops, should not be planted But an acres of corn, yielding one hundred baskets, or 50 bushels of A. Forbes of Illinois, suggests that reently plowed up grass sod should kept in clover as much as practicable thrive well in clover land. In plants badly infested with wire worms it would be well to use some commercial This will not kill the insect, but will aid the plant in overcoming its work.

It is sometimes advisable to drain land and add lime in order to make it considered the farmer cannot help but realize that he can hardly afford to self, and this has given rise to the self all the crops he raises. Rather, he should devote only a set area to cash group and make it possible for the clover to establish itself, and this has given rise to the impression that the lime itself kills, the wire worms. As a matter of fact, the action of the lime simply change in the section of the lime simply change. ahe physical character of the soil.

"One of the most dangerous political bunco games ever attempted in Michigan was started at Lansing recently. It was started partly in the name of the farmers, but it was not started by farmers, nor in the interests of farmers. It was started by and in the interests of Socialists and he radical branch of organized labor. The farmer's part in the game will be the familiar part of the cat's paw. as they would shun a public enemy. This, of all times, is the worst time to try any wild experiments, but such an experiment as this would be pernicious at any and all times. There has been nothing that such men could be recommended for to but now that the government wants older men for the second camps it is thought here that those who have offered their services first will again come to the front.

The new order makes special provision and especial mention of those who have offered their services. Although 44 is the general age limit for citizens who have no military connections, the age limit rises to 50 in cases where men are on the officers' reserve corps list as created by a state, or where they show what the government chooses to call "remarkable adaptability."

All arms of the service are to be filled by these older officers, although it is particularly specified in the orders that the cavalrymen will be trained dismounted as infantry. Most of the same regulations apply to the second camps as to the ones now on. Pay at the rate of $100 is promised, although the government insists it would be better if the applicant bought

GOIN' AFTER MUSKY,

My Dear Buck: So you're out for the big ones, the "tiger" of the waters, the great old rascal that makes 'em all sit up and doff the lid. You've bassed, trouted, and piked and panned a bit, now you feel like taking a whirl at the boss of the tribe, caused no doubt by the many tales that have been spun about this Villa of the weedbeds. No matter, old man, how harrowing the tale, the mus cellunge is guilty of everything that has been said about him.

Where to Find Him. His favorite haunt is in about 5 to 15 feet of water near the weeds, water lilies or grasses that grow in the water, or alongside of sub-merged rocks. He is a solitary fellow, don't make any friends, just lies around waiting for a piece of food to go swimming by, then he makes a lightninglike dart, snaps his powerful jaws shut on his victim and swims back to his station and gorges the other foray. He always strikes a fish or lure sideways, and there is no special time when he is feeding, fact is he seems to be hungry all the time, but he is more active from eight to eleven in the morning and from four until dark. When the water is slightly roughened by the wind and breaking in small waves or an overcast day, is good musky weather, but he may sur prise you and strike your lure while you are trolling into shore to make a landing for the noonday lunch.

Musky fishing is very good in June, unless the senson is extremely cold nd-backward towards the tall end of July it slows up considerably, while Boston. August is the poorest month for the big chief. During "dog days" his teeth are in poor shape and you can hardly coax a strike out of him unless he feels so down in the mouth and mean that he strikes from pure cus skin and the deer its horns, the musi loses its teeth in August, but nature packs in a new set by the first of Sep tember and the old boy is in a fine fighting humor for that month. By far the best musky fishing is to be had in September and October, when the chill night air seems to fill them with an extra supply of pep for the food hunt the next day. Even up into November is not too late for the big ones, but for downright good musky fishing it is hard to beat September and October. Troll and Cast.

game is to cast for them, using the some method as that of casting for bass. In trolling for musky a silk braided line of 20 to 80 pounds test is about right, while a six-thread Cuttyhunk linen line is preferred by some. Since war was declared there has been a stream of letters and telegrams to Adjutant-General Bersey from men, most of whom are past 35, who have seen some sort of service in the Spanish war, in Porto Rico, Cuba or the Philippines.

There has been nothing that such men could be recommended for to date, but now that the government wants older men for the second camps. it is thought here that those who have offered their services first will again come to the front.

The new order makes special provision and especial mention of those who have offered their services. Although 44 is the general age limit for citizens who have no military connections, the age limit rises to 50 in cases where men are on the officers' reserve corps list as created by a state, or where they show what the government chooses to call "remarkable adaptability." All arms of the service are to be filled by these older officers, although it is particularly specified in the orders that the cavalrymen will be trained dismounted as infantry. Most of the same regulations apply to the second camps as to the ones now on. Pay at the rate of $100 is promised, although the government insists it would be better if the applicant bought

Author of PAKE and STREAM GAME FISHING

GOIN' AFTER MUSKY.

My Dear Buck: So you're out for the big ones, the "tiger" of the waters, the great old rascal that makes 'em all sit up and doff the lid. You've bassed, trouted, and piked and panned a bit, now you feel like taking a whirl at the boss of the tribe, caused no doubt by the many tales that have been spun about this Villa of the weedbeds. No matter, old man, how harrowing the tale, the muskellunge is guilty of everything that has been said about him.
Where to Find Him.

His favorite haunt is in about 5 to 15 feet of water near the weeds, water lilies or grasses that grow in the water, or alongside of submerged rocks. He is a solitary fellow, don't make any friends, just lies around waiting for a piece of food to go swimming by, then he makes a lightninglike dart, snaps his power ful jaws shut on his victim and swims back to his station and gorges the eats, ready in a minute to take another foray. He always strikes a fish or lure sideways, and there is no special-time when he is feeding, fact is he seems to be hungry all the time, but he is more active from eight to elever dark. When the water is slightly small waves or an overcast day, is prise you and strike your lure while you are trolling into shore to make a landing for the noonday lunch. The Best Time.

Musky fishing is very good in June, unless the season is extremely cold and backward, towards the tall end of July it slows up considerably, while August is the poorest month for the big chief. During "dog days" his teeth-are in poor shape and you can hardly coax a strike out of him unless he feels so down in the mouth and mean that he strikes from pure cussedness. Like a snake shedding its skin and the deer its horns, the musk its teeth in August, but nature packs in a new set by the first of September and the old boy is in a fine fighting humor for that month. By-farthe best musky fishing is to be had in September and October, when the chillextra supply of pep for the food hunt the next day. Even up into November is not too late for the big ones, but for downright good musky fishing it is hard to beat September and October. Troll and Cast.

In the past most of the boys have contented themselves with trolling for the musky, but the real sport of the game is to cast for them, using the same method as that of casting for bass. In trolling for musky a silk-braided line of 20 to 30 pounds test is about right, while a six-thread Cuttyhunk linen line is preferred by some. For a trolling lure the spoon hook holds first place and is no doubt the best little all-round bait. Use a chub a spoon as an added attraction, and if this don't seem to make 'em curious, but a strip of red flannel about six inches long on the hooks and let that wiggle through the water a bit as an enticer.
